- Add Draping to a Straight Skirt

A simple way to add design to a straight skirt is to drape a belt or sash form the waistband.

Start by placing a straight skirt on to the mannequin. Take a piece of fabric and start draping from the back side area, continue draping around to the opposite front waist area. Pin and hand-stitch the fabric in place once you are satisfied with the look. Lastly, attach the waistband as the pattern instructs, enclosing the band of fabric.
